

ID

TM24_DIP_PSI

Teach Mob – Visiting Professors Academic year 2016/2017

2nd Term
COURSE TITLE Research Methods and Techniques in Clinical and Social Psychology
Scientific area Psychometrics
Department of Psychology
Language used to teach: English
Teaching Commitment: 30 hours
Course summary The topic will be: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Experimental, quasi-experimental and single-subject designs in Clinical Psychology</li><li>- Methods and techniques to evaluate the effectiveness of psychological interventions</li><li>- Data analysis techniques: classical and generalized linear models</li></ul>
Learning objectives The goal of the course is to introduce the techniques concerning statistics applied to Clinical and Social Psychology. Various research designs will be presented and discussed with methods and techniques appropriate for research with small samples and single subjects. Another focus of the course will be the research on evaluation of effectiveness of psychological interventions. A further goal of the course is to develop the students' competencies in selecting data analysis techniques adequate to different research contexts and to show students how to interpret results of basic data analysis techniques.
Tutorship activities
Lab activities Exercises will be done in info lab with software such as SPSS and R.
Other activities besides the course: i.e. seminars and conferences addressed to PhD students and research fellows, dissemination conferences Workshop on inferential statistics to PhD in Anthropological, Psychological and Educational Science.

Visiting Professor Profile The profile has to fit with the themes of the program in Research Methods and Techniques in Clinical and Social Psychology, moreover the candidate has published research contributions and has got teaching experiences that attest the competences on statistics applied to health and clinical psychology.
--

Contact person at the Department Prof. Emanuela Rabaglietti – emanuela.rabaglietti@unito.it
--