My experience at UniTO

Angelos Kassianos
Postdoctoral Research Associate at the University College London (UCL), Department of Applied Health Research – United Kingdom

I honestly believe that being a Visiting Professor at the University of Turin has been a remarkable experience.

First, you manage to translate the knowledge, skills and experience you have gained somewhere else in a different cultural, educational and social context.

Second, you acquire important skills such as adaptability to an audience whose mother language is not English and on how to accommodate your materials and style.

I would urge anyone who is in for a challenge and an experience which will teach you more than you need to teach, to apply to be a Visiting Professor here.

Discover more about my activity